Agenda

Rationale

Data gathering

Analytics and application

Rationale

Why am I doing this?

Isn't a hotel room just a room?

- Room vs. suite vs. villa
- Flexible vs. non-refundable rates
- Breakfast/dinner/club lounge inclusions
- (bonus) Loyalty points
- Airport transfers, included event/theme tickets

Hotel Hacking Goals

Two distinct types of travel

Mandatory travel

Fixed travel date and destination

- Save money
- Better room
- More benefits

Out of scope for this presentation!

Memorable travel

Flexible date and destination

- Great destinations
- Awesome suites and villas
- New experiences
- Affordable

Data Gathering

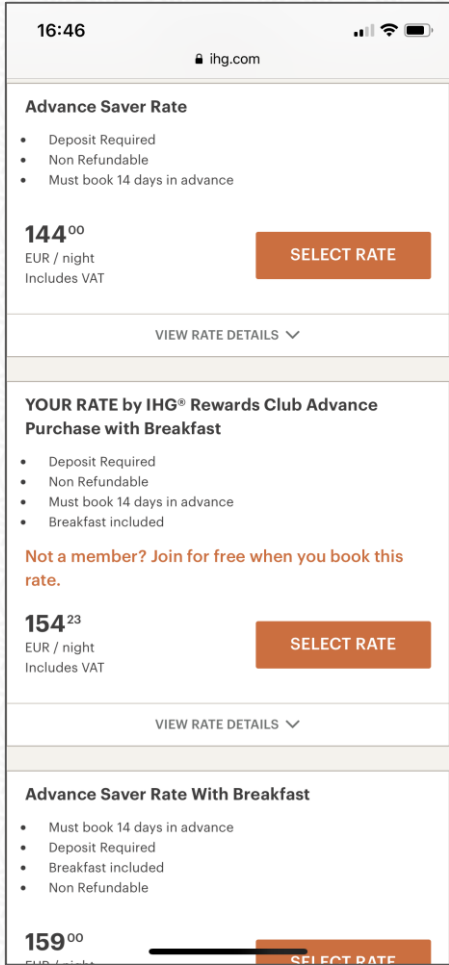

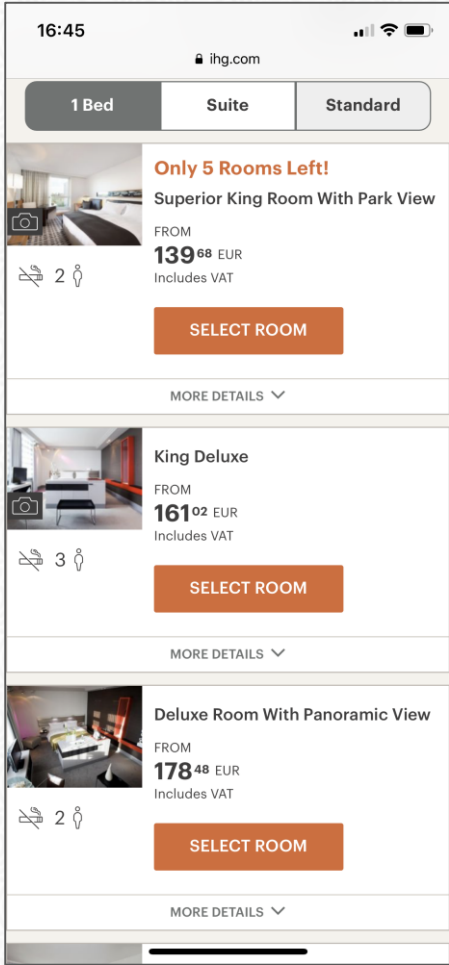

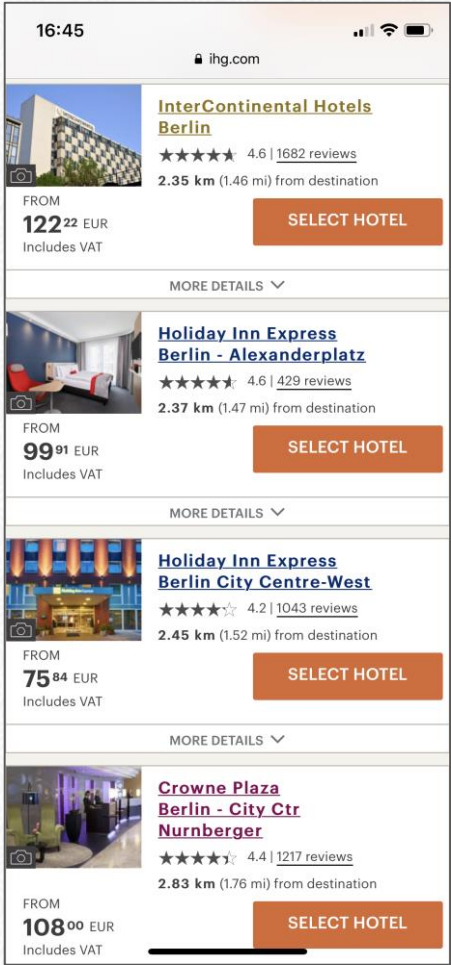

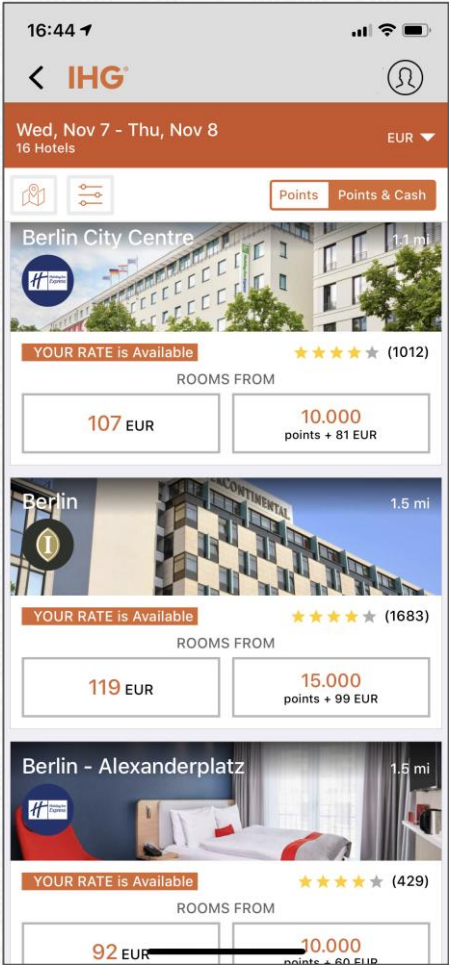

Web and app scraping

Reserve engineering APIs/Applications

- Best entry point: mobile apps
 - ~30% of hotel chains have mobile-only API
 - Standard implementation: consumption of mobile website
- Less protection on mobile APIs
 - 'My HTTP User-Agent string is my password'
- Android better target than IOS
 - Easy APK download and static code analysis
 - Fragmented Android version landscape
 - Longer supported APIs

IHG App and mobile website (m.ihg.com)

Reverse engineering APIs

Reverse engineering details

- MITM tool
 - Burp Suite (<https://portswigger.net/burp>)
- Web browser
 - Set Burp as http/https proxy
 - Use User-agent plugin to pretend to be iPhone, Android, ...
- Browse website (e.g. <http://m.ihg.com>)
 - Mimic booking process
- JSON parser: <http://json.parser.online.fr/>

JSON API results

- API calls recorded by Burp show results
- JSON data
- Convert results in CSV

Requirements

- Goal
 - Command line tool
 - Make tool obtain data from hotel site(s)
 - Store data in CSV format or database
- Result set
 - Property, date, room, rate, USD price, room classification
- Parameters
 - Corporate rates, promo rates, points rates
 - # of adults, stay duration

Scraper implementation

- Always assume stuff fails
 - Overloaded sites
 - Overload/scraping prevention
 - Hotels fully booked, not open yet, ...
- My implementation
 - One hotel chain per scanner (e.g. IHG, Hyatt, Hilton, ..)
 - Hotel directory scanner + per-property scanner
 - Perl WWW::Mechanize
 - Mimic Android app behavior where possible
- Parallelize everything
 - Use HTTP proxies. Assume that stuff fails!

Fail: Fixed API keys in Android apps

- Need to find origin of 'strange' strings in network traffic
- Bytecode from Android app (extracted using apktool)

const-string v1, "x-client-id"
const-string v2, "kTZ6WF"
.line 57
invoke-interface {p1, v1, v2}, Lretrofit/RequestInterceptor$RequestFacade;-
>addHeader(Ljava/lang/String;Ljava/lang/String;)V
const-string v1, "x-client-secret" const-string v2, "j8G44bDhxIaLNruuf3wR"
.line 58
invoke-interface {p1, v1, v2}, Lretrofit/RequestInterceptor$RequestFacade;-
>addHeader(Ljava/lang/String;Ljava/lang/String;)V

More Fails

- No scraping protection at all
- Hidden information in apps
 - Promotions, secret sign-up bonuses
- Left-over code on site or Android app
 - How about passing 'X-Environment: staging' along with request?
- Security issues
 - No certificate pinning
 - Clear text authentication
 - Site returns PIN+credit card numbers

Fun with scraping (Turning it to 11)

- There's a radius parameter on the site
 - How about 2,000 miles?
- You can define how many hotels you want in the result set
 - How about 5,000?
 - JSON might be quite big

Implementation done right

- Congrats Marriott!
- Mobile app protected with 'APIGuard'
 - SHA-224 HMAC for all requests
- Website uses Javascript to authenticate requests
 - Scrapable, but hard to scale
 - Requires JS engine and DOM
 - WWW::Mechanize::Chrome Perl module works
 - See commonMarriott.js requests in your browser

Using scraper data

Finding the needle in the haystack

Issues

- Lots of data
- Redundant data
- What is a good deal?

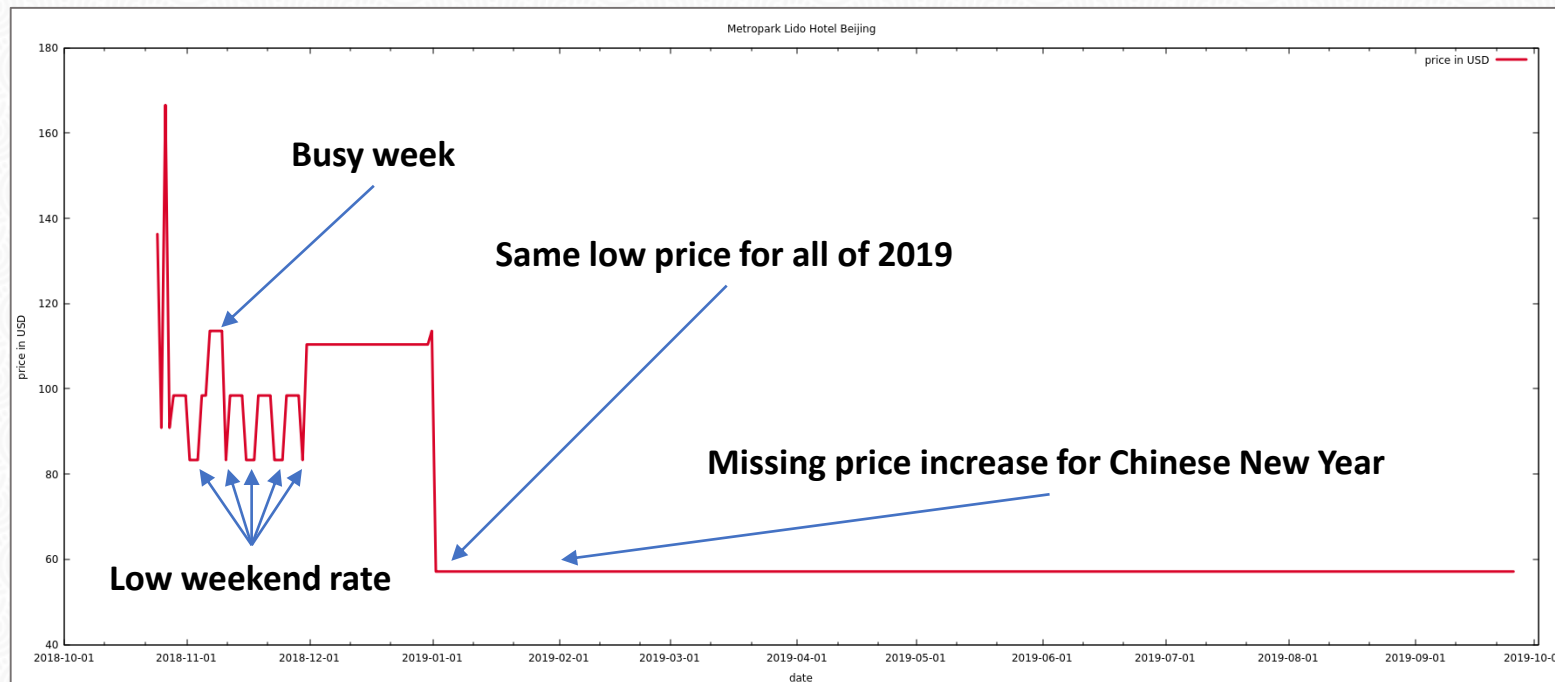

Solution: automated discovery

- Find rooms that are cheaper than usual
 - Compared to other nights
 - $ per loyalty point metrics
- Find bonuses
 - Points, free meals, SPA treatments, ...
- Find suites that are bookable
 - On points
 - For same price as regular room

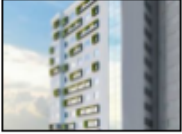

Tracking prices visually

- Track price for a certain room and rate combination
- Interesting to look at but yields few results

Price per point: Find great reward value

- Hotels sell rooms for loyalty points
 - Points value changes
 - Find sweet spots
- Compare cash rates against points rates
- Metric: CPP = US Dollar cent per point
 - Value of point in USD cent
 - Referred to as CPM (cent per mile) in air travel realm

Newly opened hotels

- New properties lack experience
 - Typically load basic rates for all dates
 - Need to add exceptions for conferences, holidays, ...
- Look for errors
 - Suites redeemable for points
 - Suites for low cash rates
 - Cheap company/senior/AAA/... rates
- Requirement: detect new properties as quickly as possible

Delayed Opening compensation

- Book a hotel that is about to open
- Hope that it's delayed
- Demand compensation (loyalty points) when delayed

Best Rate Guarantees

Best Rate Guarantees (BRG, BPG)

- ‘We guarantee the best price for this room and date’
 - ... if booked on their site
- Offered by most hotel chains
 - Guarantees best price
 - Drives traffic to site (saving on commission payments)
- Compensation for valid claims
 - Price match + 20-25% rebate on rate
 - Free night
 - Gift card

IHG Best Rate Guarantee

IHG BRG: Introduction (Sept 2011)

- Started with very simple terms
- ‘If you find a cheaper rate for the same hotel + date + room + rate combination we will give you the first night free.’
- Terms must be the same
 - # of adults and children
 - Cancellation conditions
 - Inclusions (breakfast, ...)
- Use meta search engines to find better rates
 - Community had known working sites for specific properties
 - Shared Google docs, ...

Intended BRG Process

- Book on IHG.com
- Stumble on better rate
- Fill out BRG form
- Get BRG approved
 - Low approval rate

Optimized BRG Process

- Check rate on IHG.com
 - Use flexible rate
- Check competing sites
- Find valid claim
- Book on IHG.com
- Fill out BRG form
- Get BRG approved
 - Cancel if not

How to stay multiple nights?

Issue: Only first night free

IHG BRG

- Use two guests
- Day 1) guest A
- Day 2) guest B
- Day 3) guest A

IHG BRG: Multiple nights

- 'Two guest attack' busted early on
- Asked for names of all guests in room
- Compared against other claims

IHG BRG: Multiple nights Redux

- Use multiple hotels
 - Day 1) hotel A
 - Day 2) hotel B
 - Day 3) hotel A
- Busted via '50 miles apart' rule (2012)

IHG BRG: Countermeasures

- “Cannot claim hotels in your home town”
- “Reimbursement after stay rather than free stay” (2013)
- “Have to book cheapest room”
- “Only one claim per week” (2013)

IHG BRG: “flexible only” loophole

- IHG terms state
 - “You need to compare against lowest rate”
 - Usually non-refundable
 - “If no non-refundable rate is available compare against cheapest third party rate”
 - This effectively allows comparing against all IHG.com rates
- Look for almost booked out hotels
 - Easy to automate when you have data
 - Book well in advance
 - Often works when town is busy (conference, event, ...)

IHG BRG: 2018 status

- No more free nights
 - Will give up to 40,000 points credit instead
 - Points based on paid rate (5x normal points)
- Flexible rate trick still works
- Still gameable
 - 40,000 points are enough for a free night
 - Consider BRG points as bonus to regular stay
 - Use points at expensive hotel

Global Distribution Networks

... or how I accidentally found the holy grail

Global Distribution Networks (GDN)

- Comparable to GDS (Amadeus, Sabre, ...) for airlines
 - Hotels (suppliers) supply inventory
 - GDN distributes data to channel partners
 - Enables room booking
- XML/SOAP interfaces

It began with a cheap room

- I was looking for a cheap room in New York
- Presidential suite had same price as regular room
- Room feature: ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act)
 - Wheelchair accessible, roll-in shower, audible/visible alarms, ...
- These rooms have their own category
 - Limited inventory, other price, ...

Derbysoft status

- Escalated issue via suppliers.
- Somewhat fixed. Somewhat.
 - More sites found
 - Still sending clear text passwords
 - Still doing client side security
- Derbysoft ~~never replied.~~ ~~replied once.~~ Replied.
 - Slow process
 - Promised fixes

Social Engineering

They know they messed up and want to talk

Social Engineering

- Book obvious mistake (e.g. $5 room) and wait for contact
 - “Just give me the stay credit. I don’t have to stay.”
 - Allow them to save face and minimize damage
- Book more than you need
 - Book two weeks on cheap rate
 - If they cancel offer to meet in the middle and keep one
- Negotiate on (and accept) downgrades
 - Get soft benefits (breakfast, lounge access) instead of larger room
- Don’t be too persistent.
 - Accept points compensation

Mandatory travel

When you absolutely have to be at a specific place at a specific time

Saving money on mandatory travel

- Try best rate guarantees
- Use corporate codes
- Use points
- Use meta search engines
- Use cashback sites
- Look for promotions

Summary

- Lots of deals available
 - No 100% success guarantee
- Less exposure compared to air travel deals
 - Great chance of deals being honored
- Be prepared to spend lots of time with analytics/Excel/CSVs
- Hotel hunting is a fun sport
