Kim Kardashian sued in crypto 'pump and dump' case

© 12 January

Kim Kardashian is among three celebrities being sued by investors in the EthereumMax crypto-currency.

Other defendants include boxer Floyd Mayweather Jr, basketball player Paul Pierce, and the currency's creators.

The legal action alleges the celebrities collaborated with EthereumMax to "misleadingly promote and sell" the crypto-currency.

EthereumMax said it disputed the allegations and looked forward to the truth coming out.

In spite of its name, EthereumMax has no legal or business connection with the Ethereum crypto-currency.

Porn actress Lana Rhoades apparently abandons her NFT project after its launch Lana Rhoades put her celebrity status behind the "CryptoSis" NFT project, which launched on January 22 and raised about $1.8 million. The project featured a detailed roadmap, explaining plans to develop metaverse wearables and a "hangout spot", send personalized messages from Rhoades to a small group of holders, and send out merchandise. The website also promised "real world utilities" including meet and greets with the "many mainstream notable female figures [who] will continue to join this community".

However, only weeks after launch, Rhoades appeared to have abandoned the project, and most of the funds had been transferred out. Rhoades deleted her TikTok videos in which she had promoted it, and didn't respond to tweets asking about the project. One community member wrote on Discord that they had "spent what [they] can't lose. Spent 4k, on total I had 6k. Man I'm left with 2k only. No job and have a 2 yo son". Hopefully the guy who got the tattoo of the project logo on his shin also isn't too disappointed... The NFTs, which cost 0.1 ETH each to mint (about $250), were selling for around 0.005 ETH (about $15) on February 16, if they were being bought at all.

The website also promised "real world utilities" including meet and greets with the "many mainstream notable female figures [who] will continue to join this community".

However, only weeks after launch, Rhoades appeared to have abandoned the project, and most of the funds had been transferred to her personal wallet, which she had promoted it, and didn't return. One community member wrote on Discord: "Spent 4k, on total I had 6k. Man I'm disappointed... The NFTs, which cost 0.005 ETH (about $15) on Feb 11, 2022."

Porn actress Lana Rhoades apparently abandons CryptoSis after its launch

Lana Rhoades put her celebrity status behind the "CryptoSis" NFT collection, which she launched on January 22 and raised about $1.8 million. The project detailed a roadmap, explaining plans to develop metaverse wearables, "send personalized messages from Rhoades to a small group of holders", and "send personalized messages from Rhoades to a small group of holders". The website also promised "real world utility" and "greet holders with the 'many mainstream notable female figures [who] will be in this community'".

However, only weeks after launch, Rhoades appeared to have abandoned the project and most of the funds had been transferred to her personal wallet, which she had promoted it, and didn't provide a detailed roadmap. One community member wrote on Discord: "I spent 4k, on total I had 6k. Man I'm disappointed... The NFTs, which cost 0.005 ETH (about $15) on Feb 11th, are now worth 0.001 ETH (about $1.50) on Feb 11th. No job and no job. If only so."

NFT Stealer / Drainer Template.

The screenshot shows a storefront for 'nft-professor' on a marketplace. The header includes the name 'nft-professor' and a navigation menu with links for 'Products', 'Contact', 'Feedback', 'Terms', and 'Trusted Advisor'. A search bar and a dropdown menu for 'Index By: Default' are visible. The main content area displays four product listings:

- CRYPTO + NFT DRAINER SITE (Metamask Wallet Wiper): Priced at $14,000, with a 'Stock in' indicator.
- Aidrop NFT Drainer / Stealer: Priced at $7,500, with a 'Stock in' indicator.
- [UPDATED] NFT Stealer Mint Page: Priced at $2,999, with a 'Stock in' indicator.
- Fake Mint Website (UNDETECTED): Priced at $6,000, with a 'Stock in' indicator.

Additional elements include a profile picture of a person with glasses, a 'Business' label, and a 'Products Sold' counter showing '99'. A message box from 'nft-professor' states: 'Make up to $10,000 / Month with our awesome and exclusive techniques!'. The footer contains a logo 'S' and the text 'E-commerce solution powered by Solis'.

Hi! How are you?
I have some questions regarding NFT
drainer you sell 09:11 ✓

Sure 09:15

I can see that you sell your code for 149$, but it is also available on Github for free. I checked the GH code, and some parts, e.g.
index.js is obfuscated. If I buy it from you, will I receive the clear version of index.js ? 09:19 ✓

It's not the same thing 09:27

and the part with the opensea api will always be obfuscated edited 09:28

Ok, thanks. What is the main difference between the public and the paid version? 10:27 ✓

eth stealer isn't included 10:36

Preem, thanks, have a great day! 11:01 ✓

The image shows a mobile application interface for recovering a backup phrase. At the top, it says "Your Backup Phrase" with a close button. Below that is a dropdown menu labeled "Choose your Wallet". The main instruction reads: "Enter your 12/24 word phrase, lowercase, to recover your funds & transactions." There are 24 numbered input fields arranged in a grid. A red stamp with the word "SCAM" is overlaid on the 11th field. At the bottom, there is a checkbox labeled "I'm not a robot" next to a CAPTCHA icon and a green "Continue" button.
